Sir,

The necessity for the increased scale of pay now proposed is explained in the accompanying extract from the Health Officer's Memo dated 6th April 1927 on the subject

A proposition statement showing the net increase on this account is sent herewith

Due provision for this increased charge amounting to Rs 28 a month will be made in the next year's budget estimates

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient servant,

President.

Order What is the pay of Registrars in Bangalore?

Memo dated 6th April 1927 from the Health Officer Mysore City, to the President, City Municipal Council, Mysore.

There are 7 mohallas uptill now and will be 8 including Vani Vilas Mohalla, which is recently brought under the Municipal control The Sub Registrars of births and deaths, who were about 14 in number once upon a time, were retrenched to the present number of 6 for the city, exclusive of the Vani Vilas Mohalla. So each man is given a larger area under his jurisdiction for work.

The duties of a Sub-Registrar of births and deaths are very taxing and are of an important nature It is on his reports and activities, the foundation of vital statistics is based

(1) He is to go round daily from house to house and inquire of the births and deaths, and make the reports to the office, so that the daily bulletins of Public Health is solely based on his information.

(2) He is to be the first informant of the outbreak of any epidemic or infectious or dangerous disease in his area

(3) He is to go round from door to door and make a periodical census of the children that are unprotected against small-pox, under compulsory vaccination Regulation, and has to go round with the Vaccinators and assist them in getting them cases for work.

For the work that is expected of him, he was given a pay of Rs.12/- per mensem till 1918, when the Government, under permitting the grain compensation allowance to be absorbed into the pay, gave them some relief, and their salary became Rs.17/- since then.

It is needless to point out the present economic conditions, and it will not be a hard job to realise the pinched up circumstances of this useful servant of the Municipality.
